Drinking while under the influence (of alcohol and other substances) is a huge problem here in Alaska. Here are the official Alaska State Trooper reports for the week of February 5-11. Complaints of the Report Every Dangerous Driver Immediately (R.E.D.D.I) have been received across the state, particularly in towns like Fairbanks, Wasilla and Kodiak.

Fairbanks

Seven new cases were recorded for reckless drivers in Fairbanks, all of them were subsequently arrested for Driving While Intoxicated. Drivers' ages range from early twenties to early fifties with majority of the drivers aging 23 and mostly females. All of those arrested were brought to the Fairbanks Correctional Center.

Wasilla

Drivers arrested in Wasilla were confined at the Mat-Su Pre-Trial Facility for Driving Under Influence of alcohol and drugs. Drivers were mostly females in their early twenties with a few exceptions of those under early thirties. The arrested drivers may be bailed with $500-$1000 except for those with additional charges.

Homer

Two drivers from Homer were arrested on Feb. 4 and 5 respectively due to driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages. Both drivers were brought to Homer jail until they're bailed out.

Kodiak

One of the two drivers arrested in Kodiak, Paul D. Burns II, was not just driving under alcohol influence but was also found out to possess a load of marijuana and hashish. Both drivers were brought to Kodiak Police Department Jail with a bail amount of $1000- $2250.

Other reckless drivers were arrested in Scout Lake Loop Rd, Sterling, Willow, Girdwood, Ketchikan, Palmer, Aniak, Noorvik, and North Pole.
